COLEMAN'S RODEO RATED RIP-ROARING SUCCESS

A rip-roaring old-time Western week-end was enjoyed by thousands as persons from all over Alberta and British Columbia gathered in Coleman over the week-end to enjoy one of the best rodeos yet held in this "Coal Town".

The affair got underway Friday evening in the Coleman town park when numerous persons were on hand to enjoy an evening of blango, tree movies for the young folk and dancing under the stars on the local tennis courts.

On Saturday morning thousands of persons lined the streets in Coleman, many of whom enjoyed flag jacks and bacon, dished out gratis by the Grand Union Hotel.

Following the colorful kiddie's parade led by the Bonnie Doone band of Lethbridge, crowning of the Rodeo Queen was made by Mayor Frank Abousafty.

Winner of the contest was Miss Carollee Coochione of Hillcrest, who was sponsored by the Lundbrook-Cowley Baseball Assn.

Other contestants in the contest were Miss Claire Goodwin of Coleman; Miss Sharon Synodis of Bellevue; and Miss Marie Erickson of Blairmore. During the morning the RCMP had entertained on the main street.

At 12 noon the colorful rodeo parade got underway, headed by constables of the RCMP and followed by seven bands that led the sections of the parade.

At 2 p.m. the rodeo got underway in the natural mountain amphitheatre where after a grand entry of cowboys, judges and the arena officials, Mayor Abousafty introduced Mayor A. W. Shackelford of Lethbridge, who officially opened the rodeo after congratulating Coleman on the fine work they were doing with the promotion of the rodeo. ## U. S. Pilot Lands In Rainstorm

W. Roland Murray of Los Angeles, Calif., escaped uninjured when he made a forced landing in his light plane during a driving rainstorm near Coleman Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Murray, who was enroute to the Calgary Stampede, said he was coming through the Crows Nest Pass from Spokane, Wash., when he hit low-hanging clouds and the driving rain storm.

Unable to see through his windshield, he turned his plane and landed on a sloping just west of town, one and a half miles from the emergency landing strip at Coleman.

The plane later was pulled out of the slough and Mr. Murray took off for Calgary Monday afternoon.

The pilot was on a flight plan from Santa Monica, Calif. He left Spokane about 12:45 p.m. Sunday and was in the air about two hours when he was forced down.

The plane is a four passenger Stinson Voyager.

SISTER SUFFERS BULLET WOUNDS COLEMAN TRAPPER HELD AFTER HILLCREST SHOOTING

Ernest Bettinger, a 37-year-old Coleman trapper, is being held by the Blairmore detachment of the RCMP on a charge of attempted murder.

It is alleged that he was responsible for wounding his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Houze, a 58-year-old Hillcrest widow, in a shooting incident Saturday. She is in fair condition in a Calgary hospital suffering from two wounds in the back.

A psychiatric examination was ordered when Bettinger appeared at a preliminary hearing Monday in Blairmore before Magistrate F. S. Radford.

A hearded trapper, who lives alone in the mountains south of Coleman, Bettinger is often referred to by Crows Nest Pass residents as "the hermit".

Reports indicate that Mrs. Houze had returned to her home after visiting her daughter Mrs. Thomas Podgornik.

Staying in Hillcrest
Entering the house, Mrs. Houze noticed a bearded man sitting in the kitchen. She turned to run. As she did so one shot from a .44 calibre gun hit her on the left shoulder and another shot hit her near the middle of the back.

Jack Shearer, who lives next door, heard the shots and ran over to investigate. Two other neighbors, Nye Burnett and John Makin also arrived at the scene of the shooting in a matter of minutes.

Two of the neighbors administered first aid and tried to stop the bleeding while the other called a doctor and an ambulance.

Aarene Hobeck, another Hillcrest resident, reported to the RCMP that he saw a man running from the scene of the shooting towards the mountains to the south.

Following an all-night search, the RCMP were unable to find the wanted man.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Podgornik went to visit her mother in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital. Mrs. Houze told her daughter to take her pet cat from her home and care for it while she was in hospital.

When Mrs. Podgornik returned home she told her husband to get the cat and bring it to the house. Accompanied by a police officer, Mr. Podgornik went to his mother-in-law's house.

As they entered, they heard a noise in the bedroom. Investigating they found Bettinger on the bed.

Police officers said Bettinger must have left the house shortly after the shooting, stayed in the bushes in the mountains all night and then doubled back to the house sometime Sunday afternoon.

After treatment in the Crows Nest Pass Hospital, Mrs. Houze was taken to a Calgary hospital where she is now under the care of a specialist.

C. D. Rogers, Coleman Old-timer, Passes

Clapin Jacob Rogers, well-known Coleman old-timer, passed away in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Thursday, following a period of ill health.

"Chris" as he was better known by his many friends in the Pass town was 69 years of age, and was born in Broughton, Cumberland, England, on April 24, 1889.

He came to Coleman in 1913 and has resided here since.

During his many years in the Pass, Chris worked as a master mechanic for the McGillivray and International Mines of the Coleman Collieries until last November when he retired.

He learned his trade in the steel factories around Sheffield, England. He was a member of the Coleman Board of Trade and of the Coleman Trades Board.

While working at the mine in Coleman Chris lost his right arm just below the shoulder when he caught it in the wheels of a conveyor. On his retirement from the mine last December 30, he was presented with a gold watch from the Coleman Collieries and staff for his many years of service.

Mr. Rogers was also recently awarded with a safe driving certificate for having driven a record of 32,000 accident-free miles from 1950 to 1958 in his duties around the mine properties.

Chris was predeceased by a son Flying Officer Rogers, who died on duty over England on November 6, 1943, while serving with the RCAF.

Surviving are his wife Janet, and a daughter, Helen—Mrs. T. Coccione of Coleman; a grandson, one sister, Mrs. William H. H. of Coleman; a brother Jack of Coleman, and another brother William of Arrow Lakes.

Funeral services for Mr. Rogers were held from St. Paul's United Church in Coleman at 2 p.m. on Sunday, July 6 and interment followed in the Coleman Union cemetery. Rev. Rod MacAulay of Coleman, officiated at the services.

Halls Funeral Service Ltd. of Blairmore were in charge of the arrangements.

Some day somebody is going to come up with a parking meter for a phone booth and make a lot of people happy.

ning from the scene of the shooting towards the mountains to the south.

Following an all-night search, the RCMP were unable to find the wanted man.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. Podgornik went to visit her mother in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital. Mrs. Houze told her daughter to take her pet cat from her home and care for it while she was in hospital.

When Mrs. Podgornik returned home she told her husband to get the cat and bring it to the house. Accompanied by a police officer, Mr. Podgornik went to his mother-in-law's house.

As they entered, they heard a noise in the bedroom. Investigating they found Bettinger on the bed.

Police officers said Bettinger must have left the house shortly after the shooting, stayed in the bushes in the mountains all night and then doubled back to the house sometime Sunday afternoon.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills) WAKE UP CBC!

When Canadian Labor Congress met in Winnipeg, they discussed setting up a new political party. They also discussed the controversial diesel dispute, and delegates suggested that a committee of Congress wait on Prime Minister Diefenbaker to ask him to take a stand on the matter.

The Prime Minister spoke to Congress against this dramatic background. It was a tense occasion. According to the press, there had been a plot among certain delegates to give him a cool reception. When he came on the platform, there was a mixture of boos and cheers — with most of the cheers coming from the visitors' gallery.

CBC's TV camera was very prominent. CBC's radio microphones and those of private radio stations were set up. Newspaper reporters were plentiful.

This was Big News.

Would Mr. Diefenbaker knuckle under and force CPR to delay implementing the Royal Commission Report on the diesel dispute? Would he mention the formation of the new political party? How would he respond to the planned coolness of the CLC reception?

These questions were in all minds. Fortunately for me, I live in Winnipeg and was able to attend the Congress meeting, and I heard the Prime Minister give one of the most statesmanlike speeches of his career.

But what of those who could not get to hear and see him against this dramatic background?

Surely it could have been expected that the CBC, which costs the people many millions of dollars a year, would give full TV coverage. What did they give? About three minutes!

The speech was broadcast in full by a private station, CKY, in Winnipeg. Surely if a private radio station, which gets no subsidy from the taxpayers, could broadcast the entire speech, our government-subsidized television system should have brought us at least half the speech.

CBC's Press and Information Service increased its expenditures by about two hundred thousand dollars — it spends almost a million in total — to "sell" the state broadcasting system and programs to Canadians last year.

Surely CBC would do a better selling job by being more alert to Canadian interests. Or is Mr. Diefenbaker getting the cold shoulder because he has intimated on more than one occasion that he doesn't think the CBC's monopoly should be so complete?

It looks like it.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills) REWARDS

Any person who has tried to organize a Rodeo in a country town knows one thing for sure — the prize money must be big if you want to attract top talent. Rewards, incentives, prizes, call them what you will, are important to the success of most ventures.

I thought about this when reading a book called "The Future Of The Welfare State", which consists of a series of seven Oxford lectures. Throughout the book, it is pointed out again and again that part of the trouble with Britain's economy has been the whittling away of the incentives which once spurred the people to high ambition.

"So long as we offer to people of responsibility and skill," writes Peter Goldman, "incentives that are laughable by American or Russian standards, and fiscally punish our top productive talents with the heaviest weight of direct taxation imposed anywhere in the world progress will be slow. The significant growth of our national income is going to depend, as it always has done, largely on the activities and decisions of exceptional men and women. To induce them to do the exceptional things of which they alone are capable is part of the very mechanism of creating the necessities—

Coleman Lions Hold Meeting

On Thursday, June 12 the Coleman Lions held their final meeting before summer recess in the form of a social get-together with their wives and a farewell party at the Crows Nest lake dance pavilion at Sentinel.

An enjoyable meeting was held highlighted by horseshoes, badminton, darts, ping-pong and dancing.

During the course of the evening, President Ed Howard presented members Bob Pattinson and Mel Dunford with five year membership pins. This being a tremendous feat in that no general or directors meetings were missed by either over a five-year period.

Following this the president called upon Jim Montalbetti to say good-bye on behalf of the club to Lion and Maize Pattinson, who are moving to Creston. After receipt of a lovely desk-pen-set suitably inscribed, Bob Pattinson reminisced on his years as a Lion and commented that he was a charter member and had been in the Coleman Lions since 1940. 18 years of fellowship and community service.

Next the president called upon George Jenkins to present a petition to Duke Kwasnie who, with his wife Jan and family, are moving to Lethbridge. Duke Kwasnie expressed his regret in leaving the Lions Club and the Pass in which he had resided for the past 35 years.

Both will be much missed in community effort and sport circles.

Finally H. Allen was called upon to induct the incoming slate of officers. During an impressive ceremony Jim Montalbetti was inducted as president; Ted Kryzka, vice-president; Graham Atkinson, secretary; Ed Howard, treasurer; Wally Kubica, (tailtwister); Russ Montalbetti, Loutamer and John Owen, John Salus, Gordon Dunford and Chick Roughhead as directors. As his first duty in office Jim Montalbetti then presented the retiring president, Ed Howard, with a past president's pin.

The meeting ended with a plentiful supply of hot dogs, coffee and good fellowship. Much of the success of the evening was due to the entertainment committee of Russ Montalbetti and Graham Atkinson.

"Don't" for Boaters

Don't rent a boat unless you are confident of your ability to operate a life preserver.
Don't overload any boat... one person for each seat is a good rule.

and the luxuries—of life for the nation as a whole."

Many of us will never get to claim the really big prizes — but those prizes should be there, just the same, to beckon us. We all like to think that there is at least a remote possibility that we may strike it rich. Today, when any one is fortunate enough to get a windfall of any kind, there seems always to be some catch to it — the government steps in to take a whopping big share.

Canada still offers great opportunities—greater, I think, than Britain. Yet there is a tendency here, too, to grudge the winner his prize. It has become altogether too popular to soak the rich, or to keep anyone from becoming rich.

I was at the Shriner circus last night, and I watched a brave young blonde do the most daring acrobatics high up on the tight-rope. I hope she was well paid. I am sure she was, and that none in the audience would say that she did not deserve it. Hers was a remarkable talent, and I am quite sure that it would not have been developed to such a remarkable degree if the rewards for her performance were the same as, say, those of the clown, who strolled about on the ground in perfect safety.

Let's continue to reward our risk-takers in a handsome way. Otherwise, we'll lose them and Canadians will all stay safely on the ground—safe and poor.

RATEPAYERS MEET RE ARTIFICIAL ICE PLANT

Some 35 town of Coleman ratepayers attended a meeting held in the Council Chambers Thursday evening to discuss the matter of installing an artificial ice plant in the Coleman Skating Arena this summer, which plant would be in readiness for the coming season.

Various pros and cons of the matter were threshed out by the meeting and it was agreed that a vote of the proprietary electors be taken on Thursday, July 10, regarding a by-law authorizing the council of the town to enter into such contracts and engagements that are necessary for the purchase and installation by the town of Coleman of an ice-making plant.

The poll for the vote will be at the council chambers in the town hall and will be open for poll between the hours of 10 a.m. in the forenoon and seven o'clock in the afternoon.

Should the vote favor the by-law authorizing the council to proceed with the matter the council would be allowed to use the sum of $30,000 from surplus funds of the Coleman Light and Water Co. Ltd. a utility of the town of Coleman for purchase and installation of the proposed ice plant.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills) For a Man in a Hurry

I was given a little card the other day on which was printed a prayer "For a Man in a Hurry". I liked it and want to pass it along to you, together with a word of caution.

Do not use this prayer as an excuse for loafing; that is not the real meaning of the lines, which follow:

"Slow me down, Lord!

"Ease the pounding of my heart by the quieting of my mind. Steady my hurried pace with a vision of the Eternal reach of time.

"Give me, amidst the confusion of my day, the calmness of the Everlasting Hills. Break the tensions of my nerves and muscles with the soothing music of the singing streams that live in my memory. Help me to know the magical restoring power of sleep.

"Teach me the art of taking one-minute vacations, of slowing down to look at a flower; to chat with a friend; to pat a dog; to read a few lines from a good book. Remind me, each day, of the fable of the hare and the tortoise; that I may learn that the race is not always to the swift; that there is more to life than increasing its speed.

"Let me look upward to the branches of the towering oak and recall that it grew great and strong by growing slowly and well.

"Slow me down, Lord! Inspire me to send my roots deep into the soil of life's enduring values that I, too, may grow toward the stars of my greater destiny. In Jesus' name, Amen."

I like that prayer.

It makes me think of the English cabinet-maker, who seems always to putter at his work, but who gets it done in due time and in a manner to make him proud. The English accomplish great things by steady, careful, continuous effort. Too often, we, in Canada, start with a flurry - then quit. We get little pride or pleasure from our work because we are too eager to see the end result and claim the prizes.

If you are a Man in a Hurry, I suggest you clip this column and read that prayer from time to time. Then, instead of going all to tops, you will get your roots down deep into the soil of life's enduring values.

Gale Cousineau Becomes Bride of Kenneth Koury

In an early morning ceremony in St. Mary's Cathedral Miss Gale Whitley Cousineau became the bride of Kenneth Charles Koury.

Rev. Father Edward Flanagan officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Cousineau of Fort Vermilion, Alberta, and for the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Koury of Coleman, Alberta.

Escorted to the altar on the arm of her father, the bride wore a gown of triple sheer nylon chiffon over layers of white net and taffeta. The softly draped yoke dropped in the back to form two floating panels. Falling from a princess waistline the bouffant skirt formed a short train at the back.

She carried red, yellow and pink "Better Times" roses and stephanotis and lilies-of-the-valley and white streamers.

Mrs. John Ferguson, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor and Miss Joan Carol Baziuk was bridesmaid. They wore matching gowns of mauve and gold net, and carried colonial bouquets of carnations and Shasta daisies in touting colors.

Best man was William Peter Koury and guests were ushered by Reginald Frederick Taylor and

Two basic rules of water safety are being violated by these boaters. The skipper of the craft is speeding too close to a solid object, such as the wharf, and he is allowing one of his passengers to stand while the boat is in motion. These and other matters pertinent to all fields of water safety will be discussed at the third Alberta Water Safety conference being held at the Civic Recreation Centre at Lethbridge.

The session, sponsored by the Alberta Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society and the Alberta Safety Council will be chaired by H. P. Brown, chairman of the water safety committees of both groups. Speakers include A. G. Gilmet, director of Red Cross Water Safety Services, S.-Sgt. B. D. Peck RCMP; J. A. Aird, Commodore of the Calgary Yacht Club; Hon. N. A. Willmore, minister of lands and forests and many others. Discussed will be power boating, light craft operation, waterfront supervision and Canada boating regulations. The conference is open to everyone.

Seattle, Wash., the bride changed into a Riviera blue double-breasted suit of boucle with red and white accessories. Upon their return the couple will reside in Calgary.
